Transport Brings British Repats and U.S. Veterans of Bataan Home

Last of the transports expected to reach Victoria with liberated war prisoners from the Far East, U.S. Perida late Friday afternoon steamed past Canadian ships in Esquimalt harbor to berth at Naden dock, where bands blared a welcome only equalled by the joyous tumult aboard. German-built for Denmark, the Perida, now operated in the U.S. transport service, was previously on this coast to carry Canadian troops to Kiska. See Perida story page 5.

Coast Goes Over the Top In 9th Loan; Island Has 80.4%

With the coast and suburban divisions of Vancouver Island and the mainland over the top today in the 9th Victory Loan, officials of the Vancouver Island division were confident that the island would pass its quota well before the official closing date of the loan.

Today at noon the island had reached 80.4 per cent of quota, and Victoria's subscriptions stood at $2.1 per cent. Alberni-West Coast continued to lead the province with 188.5 per cent, and Ladysmith is expected to be over the top before the day closes. At noon today they had 96.8 per cent subscribed.

Nanaimo is well ahead, too, with 83.7 per cent of objective subscribed.

Friday was the biggest day for subscriptions in the province since the opening day of the campaign, as an investment of $7,823,550 boosted public and armed forces subscriptions to $64,413,350.

Windsor Council Asks Authorities To Withhold Police Action In Ford Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Windsor city council in emergency session today appealed to civic, provincial and federal authorities to withhold any action by police in the Ford strike until the council holds a further meeting tomorrow, after which it will advance proposals in connection with the dispute.

The council's action was made known in a statement issued by Mayor Arthur Reaume after the meeting, which was held in camera. The appeal is being forwarded to Judge J. J. Coughlin, chairman of the Windsor police commission; Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario and Justice Minister St. Laurent.

Police Go to Scene Of Bus and Train

The force of 250 police dispatched by provincial authorities was expected here by train and bus around 3 p.m. It was not expected here they would seek to break through the union picket line until early next week—possibly Monday or Tuesday.

They headed here Friday night after Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario had received an appeal from Police Chief Claud Renaud for assistance after 2,000 massed pickets had prevented a 15-man detachment of Windsor police from opening a way into the plant for some 15 to 20 Ford security guards. The local police action was taken on instructions from the police commission.

Picket lines grew larger by the hour today and the pickets said they were ready for an even sterner struggle than they had Friday when they held off the Windsor police in a five-minute tussle. They expected the incoming police—125 men of the Ontario Provincial Police and 125 Royal Canadian Mounted Police—to attempt to open company premises to non-union workers, such as security guards and some office workers.

One reaction to Mr. Blackwell's announcement of the sending of police was a proposal for a tie-up of the entire automotive industry in the Windsor area to demonstrate union solidarity.

The new strike action was recommended by the policy committee of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers of America, who are organized in some 30 plants employing about 12,000 workers. About 8,000 are union members. Plant units of the local have meetings scheduled for tomorrow to decide whether to take strike action. Each plant unit will reach its own decision.

A statement issued Friday night by the policy committee said that "We... believe the only manner in which the issues at stake in this strike will be won is by broadening out the strike base in Windsor."

3 Suggestions Come From Union Men

The coming of 250 Ontario Provincial Police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police under orders from Attorney-General Blackwell to maintain law and order followed vain local police attempts Friday to batter through picket lines about the strike-bound Ford plant and gain entry for Ford's security guards.

With 10,000 men of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) on strike now for 53 days, their reaction to Friday's developments came in the form of these suggestions:

1. That the entire Windsor automobile industry be tied up.
2. That a one-day "labor holiday" across Canada be called.
3. That a strike vote be taken.

His H.Q. at Hongkong

ADMIRAL FRASER
SYDNEY, Australia (Reuter)—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander-in-chief of the British Pacific fleet, will move his headquarters from Sydney to Hongkong Dec. 1, it was announced today.

Steel Workers on Strike at Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Employees of the Frost Steel and Wire Company today went out on strike in protest against the company's newly inaugurated work week schedule and A. L. Page, company president, said the strike had forced a shutdown in the weaving and finishing departments.

Mr. Page said the work stoppage was "in protest against working Saturday mornings under the new (Ontario) industry and labor law requiring a maximum work week of 48 hours." A Saturday morning shift was necessary to prevent congestion in the plant and so that the products in the weaving and finishing departments could be disposed of when finished.

The workers are members of Local 3561, United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.). The local claims membership of 85 per cent of the employees.

Communists Will Stop Fighting If Chungking Ceases

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Communist headquarters spokesman here tonight countered a Central government peace proposal that when "all Kuomintang troops throughout the country are asked to stop fighting, the Communists will do likewise."

The nationalist proposal was designed to bring an immediate cessation of hostilities, K. C. Wu, Information Minister, said in announcing earlier that the offer had been made. He said it contained four "concrete points" but did not name them.

The Communist spokesman said "the civil war has been widespread throughout China. The fighting should stop not only along the railways but from South China to Hulutao in Manchuria. The Communists approve the proposal to replace Communist troops with railway police provided government troops withdraw to a distance of 10 kilometres as requested by the Communists."

WOULD CLEAR LINES

The spokesman said: "In other words, all railways should be cleared both of Communists and government troops and placed under control of guards. To give in on this point would permit Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's soldiers to move into Communist territory at will."

The spokesman stressed in his answer to what apparently was the Kuomintang's first point, the cease-fire order, that it should be general, and not directed at selected areas.

Edifice in Danger

Cologne Cathedral, pictured above, is in danger of collapsing, British Military Government sources announce. Hope persists that it can be reinforced and refurbished, but it is roped off. Sightseers are not allowed inside.

Yamashita Linked With Atrocities; Ordered Massacre

MANILA (AP)—The erstwhile "Tiger of Manila," Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, today was linked for the first time directly with the heinous atrocities of the barbarous troops he commanded.

A Japanese interpreter who served with the brutal Kempeitai military police and the Filipino secretary of a known collaborator with the enemy both testified to the fallen Tiger's knowledge of the brutal doings of the Japanese soldiers in a stormy afternoon session concluding the first week of Yamashita's trial as a war criminal.

Narciso Lapus, former secretary to the exiled political general Artemio Ricarte, was brought into court under guard from an internment prison to testify that in conversations with Ricarte, Yamashita affirmed his order to "wipe out all Filipinos."

Ricarte returned from exile to the Philippines in 1941 in the role of a "liaison and special envoy from Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo to effect the friendship and prepare the islands for independence under the Japanese rule."

Lapus testified, over the strenuous and repeated protest of the defence that the evidence was "hearsay four times removed," that Ricarte got in touch with Yamashita at least four times in the latter months of the year, and pleaded with him to spare the Philippines from mass destruction and slayings.

Sulfa, Penicillin Supplies Gathered At Strategic Spots

LONDON (Reuter)—British health and military authorities have completed preparations to combat what was described today by a high government spokesman as "the danger of an epidemic resulting in a catastrophe such as the human race has not known."

Supplies of penicillin and sulfa drugs have been concentrated at strategic centres in Britain and, where possible, in Europe. Mobile medical units are standing by, prepared to be rushed to any danger point of threatening epidemic. Drastic measures are contemplated to isolate such zones of infection and to take every possible preventive action within them.

This, it is felt in authoritative government quarters, is the one hope of avoiding an epidemic this winter which would dwarf the death toll of the two waves of influenza in 1918-19 when 21,500,000 persons died in nine months. For if a similar epidemic broke out and were not isolated the capacity to resist would be considerably lower—in Europe at least—than what it was at the end of the First Great War.

Foreign Secretary Bevin estimates there are more than 20,000,000 men, women and children now on the move on the roads of Europe; virtually all of them are severely undernourished and continue to receive inadequate rations for protective purposes; nor have they much prospect of either shelter or warmth this winter. Fifty per cent of those examined in the Berlin area had body lice, one of the chief carriers of typhus.

Another problem is the lack of protective foods available to the populations of those countries occupied or liberated by foreign armies. Pigs, cattle, chickens, eggs, butter and milk are usually the first items requisitioned for use of the armies.

More British Troops Land In Java

BATAVIA (AP)—A second division of British troops—the 5th Indian—has landed in Java, it was learned today in the midst of a tense political situation aggravated by an impending breakdown of Nationalist negotiations with the Dutch.

British forces in Batavia were under a curfew and were ordered to carry their arms at all times and not to venture out unescorted. It was explained officially that this was simply a tightening of precautions and that the situation in Java was under control.

May Be Freed; Her Companion Jailed

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Lena Kelly, 20-year-old girl friend of Joseph Peltier, sentenced Friday in Kingston, Ont., to 35 years in the penitentiary for robbing three banks and breaking jail, was remanded today on a charge of receiving $400 of the money Peltier stole May 9 from the Ayr, Ont., branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The remand was granted pending a decision by Ontario Provincial Police on whether to continue the case in view of Peltier's conviction.

21 Yanks Killed In Plane Crash

WIESBADEN, Germany (Reuter)—At least 21 U.S. soldiers were killed when their transport plane crashed near Karlsruhe, it was announced today.

H.M.C.S. Algonquin, Latest of Her Type, Reaches Esquimalt

H.M.C.S. Algonquin, one of two modern destroyers given to Canada by Britain, arrived at Esquimalt at 10 this morning. This visit is the first to the Pacific coast of any destroyer of the Algonquin class.

H.M.C.S. Algonquin is a V-class fleet destroyer, one of the most modern types in the world. She was commissioned in February, 1944, at Clydebank and served mostly on the Norwegian coast, making four raids on the German battleship Tirpitz and sailing in Russian convoys. She was in the bombardment flotilla during the invasion of the continent, and then returned to the Norwegian coast to strike at enemy shipping. First Lt. Richard Steele, R.N., said the ship had been engaged in "one very good action" against the enemy when she caught 11 transports and escort ships off Lister Fjord, destroying most of them.

Following that action, the destroyer went on two more Russian convoy runs and then returned to Canada for a refit. After the refit she served in the Mediterranean, coming here by way of Malta, Gibraltar, the Azores, Trinidad and the Panama Canal.

Commanding officer of the ship is Lt. Cdr. Philip Haddon, R.C.N. The Royal Navy had six of the V-type destroyers, gave two to Canada at the Quebec conference, and lost one, H.M.S. Hardy, by enemy action off Norway.

Plan Rocket Research

SYDNEY (Reuter)—Britain has told the Australian government it needs thousands of miles of uninhabited areas for rocket research, the Sunday Sun reported from Canberra today.

The federal government is now considering establishment of a rocket research station in central Australia, and of other stations for radar and atomic research, the report added.

LEADS FORCE IN NORTH—Gen. Chu Teh is in command of the Communists in Manchuria.

Stalin to Review Big Moscow Parade

MOSCOW (Reuter)—Generalissimo Stalin is expected to review what probably will be the greatest parade ever seen in Moscow when the Soviet Union celebrates its 28th anniversary Wednesday.

Thousands of men and women from all branches of the armed forces, industry, agriculture, trade unions, cultural organizations, schools and youth organizations will take part.

It was reported earlier that Stalin was expected to make an important speech Wednesday. This, his first speech since the end of the war, was likely to be of the greatest significance, with a vital bearing on the postwar world, diplomatic circles in Moscow predicted.

Seversky Deprecates Atom Bomb Hysteria

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky asserted here Friday the fearsome atomic bomb that hastened Japan's defeat could kill no more people than a regular 10-ton bomb if dropped on North American cities of steel and concrete. ***

The noted aircraft designer, arguing against "getting hysterical" about the atomic bomb, told a news conference he also doubted if it could sink a battleship unless it scored a direct hit. Maj. de Seversky, who is studying bomb damage in Japan, said he thought the atomic bombs wrought such heavy devastation in Hiroshima and Nagasaki because of their flimsy wood construction. ***

Operations to Convert Arm Stump to Fingers

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—A rare surgical operation which converts the stump of a forearm into two large fingers is being used at the Mare Island naval hospital to rehabilitate men who lost their hands in combat. ***

The surgeon splits the arm nearly to the elbow by severing the flesh between the two long bones. Some of the long muscle tissue is removed and the lesser muscles are rearranged to give space between the separated members and to permit the skin to recover the surgical wounds. ***

The patient then has two outside fingers which, unlike those of an artificial hand, retain the sense of touch and move under the stimulus of nerve impulses. In artificial hands the fingers usually are moved by mechanical devices. ***

To Debate Changes In Halibut Treaty

VANCOUVER (CP) — The halibut treaty between Canada and the United States will be up for revision at the International Fisheries Commission hearing Nov. 29 in Seattle.

The commission has asked the halibut industry in British Columbia and the United States to submit recommendations for bringing treaty regulations into line with changed conditions.

Major points up for review are control of rate of capture, broadening of the permit system and stiffening of present enforcement procedure.

Wheat to Russia Via B.C. VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 2,000,000 bushels of wheat were shipped to Russia during October from British Columbia ports.

The Russian freighter Sevastopol sailed Friday for Vladivostok with a cargo of grain. She is proceeding via Portland, where she will pick up four locomotives with tenders for her deckload.

French-Held German Prisoners Reduced to Weak Condition

(The following eyewitness dispatch was written by an Associated Press correspondent, who spent 15 months in a German internment camp after his capture in the German occupation of Vichy. He was released under an exchange agreement.)

By MEL MOST

CROUTOY, France (AP) — The first German prisoners of war returned to United States army control by the French have been classified as unfit to work, by American medical authorities, and from personal examination I can report that many of them look almost like corpses resurrected from the horror camps of their own Fatherland.

The former German soldiers, who had been turned over to the French as laborers, are being taken back under a project identified by the code name "operation skinny." They were called back after International Red Cross charges that they were being treated below standards set by international convention.

The charges resulted in Gen. Eisenhower halting more transfers to the French, and then agreeing to take back those unfit for labor. The French have insisted most of them were returned in the same condition in which they had been received.

One group of 1,151 prisoners arrived Friday. It was a beggar army of pale, thin men clad in vermin-infested tatters. U.S. sources say the men had been adequately fed, clothed, shod and equipped with blankets when they were turned over to the French four months ago.

All said they had not eaten in two days. Four were brought in on stretchers. A few were sent to hospital immediately and fed intravenously. The rest, after a light meal, filled out a questionnaire on their treatment by the French.

Gen. de Gaulle has told Gen. Eisenhower that many French-held prisoners were received in a "deplorable state." Many of the new arrivals here confirmed they had been classed unfit to work from the start, but previous groups said they had been worked in stone quarries, coal mines, farms and clean-up details of northwest France. Men in both categories said their condition grew worse in French custody.

No Bids for Corvettes

VANCOUVER (CP) — There have not been any bids yet for the three minesweepers, two corvettes and two tugs anchored at Bidwell Bay, a War Assets Corporation spokesman here said Friday.

These vessels are only a few of 34 naval craft to be declared surplus by the navy and turned over for sale.

Harbor Committee Wants Action

The harbor committee is not going to let things drift now that success in the campaign to obtain improvements of Victoria's harbor appears imminent, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, committee chairman, said this morning.

"I am confident that E. P. Murphy, the Deputy Minister of Public Works, who met our harbor group Friday will try and do something for us," Ald. Hawkins said.

"If Mr. Murphy has alternate suggestions to make for harbor improvement," he continued, "the committee will give them careful consideration. The important thing is to get the work started immediately."

Ald. Hawkins said that further committee meetings with Chamber of Commerce representatives and labor men, would be called within the next few days to discuss further action.

Murphy Surveys Harbor Facilities

E. P. Murphy, accompanied by his engineers, K. Cameron, chief engineer for the National Harbors Board, and K. Morion, B.C. district engineer for the public works department, New Westminster, Friday afternoon surveyed harbor facilities in Victoria.

Mr. Murphy looked over the Rithet piers, which it is suggested should be raised to accommodate modern vessels, the ferry wharves and the fishermen's wharves.

No announcement of what he would recommend to the Dominion government was made by Mr. Murphy, who left Victoria Friday night.

M.P.'s Say Air Force Recruiting, Reserve Army May Be Backward

OTTAWA (CP) — Belief that Canada will have difficulty raising sufficient men for her permanent air force and for her postwar reserve army was expressed by two opposition members in the Commons Friday after a government supporter had reiterated his opposition to conscription.

Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, spokesman for his party on military matters, said "very strong" leadership would be required to enlist the support of the Canadian people in raising a reserve army force of six divisions.

H. G. Archibald, C.C.F.-Skeena, who served as a leading aircraftman during the recent war, said men in the R.C.A.F. were not reacting favorably to what was being offered them as prospective members of the postwar air force.

AIR FORCE DETAILS

Answering a steady stream of questions from opposition members, Air Minister Gibson made these statements:

1. A planning committee now is working out arrangements for the 1,000 to 20,000-man postwar air force—a small compact force which could be expanded quickly.

2. The air force would continue to operate separately from the army and the navy while at the same time working in close cooperation with those two forces.

3. The three services were co-operating in matters of research and there was no duplication.

4. A definite effort was being made to prevent overlapping of services, such as food, clothing and medical care, in the three defence departments.

5. The question of an air force college had been considered but it had not been decided what methods would be followed in training officers.

6. The War Assets Corporation had been made more responsible for dealing with all surplus equipment as a result of criticism over the destruction of wireless equipment by the air force.

Wilfrid LaCroix, Lib., Quebec-Montmorency, who rejoined the Liberal Party this year after breaking from it in 1944 over the conscription issue, said he opposed the use of conscription in the raising of peacetime forces.

URGES INDEPENDENCE

Mr. LaCroix urged that Canada aim toward gaining complete independence from Britain and suggested a general amnesty be granted to all deserters from the forces.

When the House opened in the afternoon Labor Minister Mitchell said the United Automobile Workers' Union had rejected his proposals for settlement of the strike of 10,000 workers in the Ford motor plant at Windsor, Ont.

Justice Minister St. Laurent told the Commons that amendments to the Criminal Code designed to deal with the wave of crimes of violence now sweeping the country were under consideration.

R.C.M.P. Constable's Hazardous Arctic Trip Reported

OTTAWA (CP) — Starving dogs tried to eat their leather harness during a 3,500-mile perilous Arctic Circle trek by a Mountie investigating an Eskimo murder, it is disclosed in the annual Royal Canadian Mounted Police report.

The story of Constable C. L. DeLisle's 146-day mush through drift ice, blizzards and bone-chilling cold is one of the narratives contained in a dull-looking, blue-covered volume which Justice Minister St. Laurent placed on the Commons' tables Friday afternoon.

The annual report for the 12 months ended March 31, 1945, gives criminal statistics, shows an increase in the number of cases handled from 77,897 to 82,461 and contains a plea from Commissioner S. T. Wood for additional men.

The hard-won living of the north is reflected in the report of Constable DeLisle's long overland dogsled trip to Mary Jones Bay on the Boothia Peninsula, area of the Magnetic North Pole.

After many adventures he reached his objective and found the natives "very primitive and very friendly." This description also fitted the criminal.

TALKED FREELY

Says the report: "Mitkauyout, the alleged murderer, a young woman of about 21, readily and voluntarily admitted her guilt and statements were taken through an interpreter in the cold igloo by the light of a seal oil lamp."

The body of her brother-in-law was found cached in ice and still preserved from the previous year's shooting.

It was in the rounding up of the evidence for the trial which has not yet been held that the constable had many close brushes with death from freezing and losing his way in the grim fastnesses.

At one place he found an Eskimo youth had frozen to death when he was driven from his igloo by a hungry bear in search of a seal the native had cached. Food ran low and the cold and drifting blizzards increased. Finally a big polar bear came in sight.

The dogs were released and soon had the beast at bay. The constable brought the bear down with a single shot. The carcass was skinned and the meat cut up as much as possible, before the dogs, dodging whip and harpoon handle, came charging in and ripped the meat to bits. Man and dog had a good feed.

DeLisle on his long patrol talked to 750 Eskimos and recorded 104 births, deaths and marriages. He also investigated six accidental deaths.

THEY BELIEVE IN CANADA

A PART FROM THE EMINENTLY SATISFACTORY amounts of daily subscriptions to Canada's 9th Victory Loan—and these are breaking the records set up last spring—the special significance of this first postwar appeal for financial aid for the national treasury lies in the fact that it is meeting with such outstanding success without the stimulus which sensational dispatches from the fighting fronts had previously supplied. No long lists of casualties are to be found in the newspapers these days. No exhortations for greater production of munitions are rending the air. On the contrary, what the peoples of this and other member states of the United Nations Organization are plagued with most at this stage is a state of affairs which emphasizes some of the difficulties of peacetime.

It would not be surprising, therefore, if the domestic discontents—temporary though they assuredly will be—dulled still further the thinking processes of those skeptics and timid souls who are afraid of their own shadows. Not a bit of it; the response in the first two weeks of this 9th Victory Loan has proved conclusively how supremely confident the people of Canada are in the future of their country. Their increased subscriptions, the popularity which this kind of saving has firmly established for itself, furnish impressive recognition of the national well-being in its basic sense. Our people are, indeed, investing in their country. They could have no better security. Mr. Halsey obviously will get much more than the $1,500,000,000 for which he has asked.

'NO CAUSE FOR ANXIETY'

MOSCOW HAS INTIMATED THAT "there was no cause for anxiety" over the expiration of the treaty of friendship and non-aggression between Turkey and the Soviet Union. This provides an encouraging element for consideration of arrangements which will doubtless be made in the not too distant future regarding the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles. The statement, even without official identification, is in sharp contrast to the tone of the dispatch from Ankara expressing Turkish nervousness over the situation. The Moscow comment suggests, at least, that the main issue of Russian concern, an outlet from the Black Sea, is subject to settlement by negotiation. In view of the multitude of interests involved, it would be unreasonable to settle it any other way.

It may be taken for granted, of course, that the U.S.S.R. will insist on an arrangement which will free it from the disadvantages of having Black Sea shipping subject to obstruction through a one-power control of that narrow outlet which at one place is only three-tenths of a mile wide. Russia, quite apparently intends to maintain her traditional objective of gaining free access to the Aegean and the Mediterranean. Nor can her experiences during the war just concluded—when the Dardanelles could have provided a relatively easy means of securing vitally needed supplies with a minimum of inconvenience—have done anything but add to the strength of her convictions in this regard. Her deep interest in the western end of the Mediterranean, incidentally, will be noted to emphasize her future stake in the use of that artery.

To what degree Turkish anxiety extends is a matter which future events only can reveal. Certainly the nervousness could hardly envision war as a result of any disagreements on the waterway. Russia, to whom peace must be imperative if she wishes to consolidate her position in the world, still stands out as an overwhelming military power against whom the men at Ankara could not compete. It is natural, at this stage, for Turkey to remember the suggestion advanced to her when she could have been a material factor in assisting the United Nations to crush the Axis. When she was in a position to make her weight count in the balance, Mr. Churchill expressed the hope she would earn more than standing room at the peace conference. To what accommodation her entry into the war last March entitles her has not yet been decided. In an issue involving Russia, however, her place would be far down the table. Consequently, when President Ismet Inonu states that Turkey has "no debts to pay anybody," he must tacitly admit she has no substantial grounds for expecting favors.

It is to be assumed, however, that a decision on the Dardanelles will require attention by all the Mediterranean countries, if not the wider membership of the United Nations. And in that decision, the national interests of countries other than those in close geographic proximity to the waterway in question will no doubt be determining factors.

SOCIAL CONSCIOUSNESS

NOT THE LEAST INTERESTING FACTOR which went into the creation of the atomic bomb is the social aspect of boom-town living in Oak Ridge, Tenn., where much of the highly secret work was conducted. Housing there, as in other communities swollen by war industry, was a problem overcome by the use of trailers and a number of bungalows. That, in itself, suggests a condition which might have led to very serious complications. Yet the crime rate was held down to an almost negligible minimum.

Health was protected through a medical care insurance scheme by means of which group prepayment spread costs over a wide field and relieved those who fell seriously ill of an economic drain which would have crippled them financially had the plan not been put into use. Adequate educational provision was made for the children of those employed on the project and labor disturbances were virtually eliminated through a high degree of co-operation. These are points which assume added significance from the emergency conditions which attended work in the atomic energy field. In that undertaking, all departments raced against time. The opportunity for leisurely planning of services was strictly limited.

The authorities did have certain advantages in that all entering Oak Ridge were screened and all were seized with the magnitude of their task. But, in view of its ability to overcome difficulties, Oak Ridge offers an example.

'CANADA SAVED THE DAY'

CANADIANS HAVE GOOD REASON TO remember the Battle of the Atlantic, particularly in its early stages, because their fighting ships played such an outstandingly heroic role when the sea lanes were literally alive with Nazi submarines. But those who have read "The Silent, Invisible War Under the Sea" in the current issue of the Reader's Digest may have found it somewhat difficult to restrain their ire as they detected not a single mention of either the Canadian or Royal navies. And yet the author of the article is Ira Wolfert, who won the Pulitzer Prize for his dispatches on the Battle of the Solomons, a distinction in itself which should guarantee a sense of proportion—if not evoke an impartial assessment of Allied effort. The publishers of the Digest, too, might have been actuated by the common denominator of reader proclivity for fair play—particularly in recognition of the magazine's subscribers in Canada.

But Canadians will probably recall, for the purpose of contrast, an editorial published in the Saturday Evening Post more than two years ago under the title of "Canada Saved the Day." In times gone by, of course, our people were often irritated by this well-known American weekly's concept of the responsibilities of the United States; but under the able editorship of Mr. Ben Hibbs all that changed. However, let these extracts speak for themselves:

"What most Americans don't realize, however, is that there were many desperate months when Canada stood between us and disaster."

"There was a time before Pearl Harbor when the United States contributed substantial help in the way of escort ships for the freight convoys. But after Japan struck, much of our naval strength was needed in the Pacific, and we also had to use our fighting ships to guard the troop convoys crossing the Atlantic. The burden of protecting the freighters fell chiefly upon England and Canada. Britain, with a very limited amount of help from the Norwegian, Polish and Fighting French navies, supplied 51 per cent of the escort vessels for the trade convoys; the United States contributed 2 per cent and little Canada, amazingly, provided 47 per cent."

"This does not mean, of course, that the United States was drowning during those long and critical months. Yet the fact remains that we probably would have lost the war if the Canadian navy hadn't come through in a spectacular and heroic way. It is not surprising that Britain, with her great sea power and resources, should have been able to shoulder 51 per cent of the job. But it is one of the marvels of this war that Canada, an agricultural nation of less than 12,000,000 people, could have contributed 47 per cent of the vast fleet of fighting ships necessary to get the freighters across. How Canada accomplished such a feat is an epic that should be written in large letters."

Mr. Wolfert has the privilege of writing what he likes. None will dilute his pleasure in recording the magnificent feats of the United States Navy, whether against submarines or surface ships, but when he says that the "Battle of the Atlantic was shrouded in secrecy until the war was over—that 'now it can be told'—he might have admitted that this and other battles were won by the combined efforts of the Allies. And all thinking and fair-minded Americans, of course, agreed with the Saturday Evening Post; it was dealing with a crucial phase of the war before Pearl Harbor. The Digest might ask Admiral Percy Nelles to do an article for it on Canada's Navy.

HARBINGERS

THERE IS A WHISPER OF WINTER IN the wind when it blows free of rain from the north and there is an air of expectancy about Victorians who lift their eyes to the Sooke Hills. Soon now they may find a mantle of snow along the crests of the western range which stands sentinel over the south of the island. That will be the official herald of the season which so frequently passes with few conventional symbols here. In a short while the last withering leaves will be whisked from skeletonized branches on deciduous trees here, and while roses will still throw occasional December blooms, nature will have wrapped up the gaudy tapestry that was fall and laid it aside for the year.

In the traditional softness of the coast winter, eyes will turn to the Sooke Hills as to a barometer. First will come a frosting along the sky line. Then patches of snow will form in pockets and, if the weather turns more severe, the mountains will claim a full covering of white, bringing them closer to the city's friendly light and warmth. That will form one of the many pictures which the hills give to Victoria, familiar outlines etched more sharply than the blue and purple masses of the summer time view. And that will mark the advent of winter for hundreds who await the snow scene to confirm them in the season.

Bruce Hutchison THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

IN A SUPPLEMENT to his work on "The American Language," Mr. H. L. Mencken tries to prove that the language is being constantly enriched and revitalized by the genius of his people in the invention of words. This may be true, but at the same time an opposite process is in motion—the language may be growing at the roots but it is dying at the top and withering from intellectual drought.

For this the intellectuals are to blame. The common people, sound and reliable as always, can be trusted with the care of the language because they tend it constantly and pick its fruit for their daily needs. The intellectuals treat it as a kind of toy, playing with it, twisting it and spinning it so thin that it breaks and crumbles in their hands; and, moreover, in using it to create the outer semblance of thought, they make it a disguise for the lack of thought. In their hands language ceases to contain living ideas and contains only dead words.

I AM NOT REFERRING to the mere debasement and debauchery of good English words for money. What has happened to such words as "glamour," "romance," "love" and "thrill" at the hands of Hollywood does not bear thinking about.

I am referring rather to the posturings of the intellectuals, who have invented a kind of denatured speech to show their own superiority and humiliate the poor. Go to Ottawa, or Washington, or to any gathering of the upper classes and you will find this language uttered, not trippingly on the tongue, but with an unctuous and laborious pretension like a lesson in elocution, and with no more meaning.

To be accepted in such circles you must use the current clichés like a password. In Ottawa, for example, everything must be on a "level." You do not speak of a matter being before the government. It is on "the cabinet level," or it is on the "official level," or on "the popular level." Everything is on the level, especially when, according to an honest man's definition, it is not on the level at all. Why, with a true intellectual, breakfast is on the ham and eggs level and dinner on the roast beef level and all life on a dead, flat and barren level where nothing grows but the cactus of an inedible speech.

AGAIN, EVERYTHING must be discussed "in terms of" something else. You approach the problem of the budget "in terms of finance." You approach the wheat problems "in terms of agriculture" or, more likely, "in terms of politics." You approach your own children not in the natural fashion of the poor, but "in terms of affection," until finally every emotion is desiccated and ground into a dry powder and the juice squeezed out of human contact in terms of common humanity.

Thus words meet words instead of minds meeting minds. Everything is in terms of speech on the intellectual level and in the fine cobwebs of this game all ideas are finally entrapped and flutter themselves to death. These people have fallen so under the spell of words that eventually they forget what they are talking about. But no one notices it in the excitement of articulating pretty words.

OR READ HANSARD and you will find the language heavy as suet pudding, blown-up, bloated and dropsical, inflated with words and circumlocutions which seem to contain thought but which are found, on surgical examination, to contain only wind—and all designed not to convey facts but to hide them, to deck out in robes and jewels a mere skeleton of information.

Out of all this will eventually come a special high-cast mandarin language which only the intellectuals will understand, and I think this is their purpose. They may go on the radio once in a while and speak the common tongue to win an election or sell a public policy, but most of the time they will chatter to themselves in their high trees like a special breed of monkeys while the rest of us plod upon the ground.

MARBLE HORSES PARADE

Astonished Parisians recently watched a procession of splendid marble horses slowly crossing the Place de la Concorde. Mounted on ball-bearing wheels and firmly held in a sturdy wooden cage which protected them from jolts, the famous Marly horses were on their way back to the entrance of the Champs Elysees.

Created by the 17th century sculptor G. Coustou, the horses first pranced at the entrance of the watering trough of the royal chateau of Marly near Paris. In 1795 they were moved to the heart of the city.

A few days before the liberation of Paris, the famous horses and the fine statuary of the Tuileries were buried in the gardens themselves to guard them from bombs and shells. These precautions were rewarded, for the pedestal of the Marly horses was scarred by machine gun fire.

Because of the weight and fragility of these marble statues, their restoration to their places is a delicate and slow operation. But already Fame is again sounding her trumpet at the entrance of the Gardens and the horses of Marly prance on the Champs Elysees.

A great figure says something that everybody can understand. Then experts try to clarify it and nobody can understand it.

A Slight Hesitancy

There is a slight hesitancy in his speech as the husky young khaki-clad fellow takes part in the discussion. He knows what he wants to say and he is literate enough to say it, but he has to choose his words so that listeners will understand. For several years now he has been talking with his mates in khaki. They have their own language, their own idioms. And then, too, talking with men under rugged conditions, they have dropped some of the elegancies of phrase that they associate with civilian living.

But the problem runs deeper than that. They have behind them a background of experience against which they speak. Without that experience, their words, and the connotations the background has given them, fall in their meaning. Their vocabularies clothe incidents which at best are understood by the civilian only through the shallow sepia and white of the newsreel. Their terms have emotion to those who have shared the emotion. It would take long explanation and deep understanding to convey their thoughts. So there seems to be a slight hesitancy in their speech.

Repats From Malaya Welcomed Here

Cheers of more than 700 American troops aboard U.S.S. Perida drowned the music of the Esquimaux Garrison Band as 589 British troops came ashore. Lining the rails until the decks seemed a solid mass of khaki the American soldiers, including veterans of Bataan and Corregidor, watched their friends leave the ship.

Carrying 589 British troops and two merchant seamen repatriated from Jap prison camps in Malaya and other Far Eastern areas, the United States army transport Perida tied up at Naden Friday at 4.30.

Her decks massed with khaki-clad figures, the 12,000-ton ship which left Manila 27 days ago steamed slowly through the harbor as whistles screamed their welcome.

Seven hundred and thirty-two United States troops, including veterans of Corregidor and Bataan, lined the rails to cheer as the British soldiers streamed across the gangplank to board buses taking them to Gordon Head and Macaulay centres.

Once again civilians were forbidden entrance to the graving dock in order to facilitate the removal of the repats. Soon after the Perida tied up, however, crowds of youngsters appeared at the dockside. Jostling with naval personnel they scrambled along the jetty for the Jap money and coins and the cigarettes thrown down by the troops aboard.

The two merchant seamen, Harry Erroch, Paisley, Scotland, and Bosun-Tom Jones, Cardiff, Wales, came from the same ship, M.V. Empire Dawn, which was sunk by a German raider in the South Atlantic on Sept. 12, 1942. Twenty-two of the crew of 44 were lost.

After 27 days on the raider, the surviving seamen were transferred to a supply ship, the sister-ship of the infamous Altmark, and were taken to Java after 30 days aboard. There they were handed over to the Japs.

In May, 1944, the seamen, along with other prisoners of war, left for Formosa by way of Singapore and Manila. It was on this trip that horror struck the prisoners of war.

As they sailed past Nagasaki, a torpedo blasted into the side of the ancient Jap transport which slid under the water in one and a half minutes. Five hundred and sixty of the prisoners, many crowded below in the holds of the ship, were lost. Only 212 were saved.

The men remained in the water for 10½ hours before they were picked up and taken on to imprisonment in Japan. Erroch said he worked for a year in Nagasaki for the Mitsubishi company, and left there only one month before the U.S. dropped their atomic bomb.

Cpl. E. Davison of London was one of the servicemen called in to aid in the evacuation of civilians aboard the Empress of Scotland, then the Empress of Japan, as bombs crashed into the dockside where she lay, and hit the American transport Wakefield lying in the stream ahead of her.

He reached Singapore aboard the U.S.S. West Point, which was in convoy with the Empress of Scotland to Singapore. He served with the 1st/5th Sherwood Foresters, and was taken on the outskirts of the city.

In October of 1942 Cpl. Davison was taken to Formosa, where he worked in the copper mines. On his release by U.S. forces he passed through Nagasaki. Atomic-bomb damage there was "terrible," he said. He had been through the 1940 blitz in London, "but that was nothing like Nagasaki."

Forty-five of the men aboard the Perida were British repatriates scheduled to come here aboard the British aircraft carrier H.M.S. Glory, but were turned back at the last moment as the carrier became packed to capacity. The Perida took 24 days to reach here from Manila.

Born in India, Gnr. T. P. Lyons was one of between 90 and 100 members of the 5th Field Regiment, R.A., a British regiment, which went to Singapore in November, 1941, with an Indian division. Most of the other men had been drafted with the regiment to India, but Lyons joined there.

He went first up the Malay

Peninsula to Ipoh, then when the war broke out against the Japanese, he was sent up to Kuantan, where they fought against the Japanese, eventually with drawing to Singapore, where he was taken with other men of the regiment.

Meat Dealers to Confer

All independent meat dealers in Victoria district have received an invitation from J. D. Cornett, provincial chairman of the Meat Dealers' Division of the Retail Merchants' Association, to attend a meeting in the Empress Hotel Tuesday night at 8.

Mr. Cornett will report on the conference in Kamloops with the B.C. Beef Cattle Growers' Association, which has resulted in a closer working arrangement between producer and retail meat dealers.

Guard of Honor At Naval Wedding

The bells of Christ Church Cathedral rang out this afternoon following the marriage of Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Angus, 2650 Bowker Avenue, and Sub. Lt. (S) Alan Patrick Izard, R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Izard, 980 Arundel Drive. Bishop H. E. Sexton read the service and Thos. Jenkins was at the organ. Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a simply styled gown of white brocade satin, featuring a square neckline and full skirt gathered to a low waistline. Her full-length veil of fine net was arranged with a wreath of orange blossoms and the bridal bouquet was a shower of pink roses and gardenias.

Miss Catherine Angus was her sister's only attendant, and chose a gown of turquoise with brocade and full net skirt. A tiny Juliet cap was matching and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Lieut. Douglas Boyle, R.C.N., was best man. As the bridal party left the church, cadets from the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads formed a guard of honor.

At a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus, the bride cut the wedding cake in traditional manner with the groom's sword. Toast to the bride was proposed by J. N. Anderson.

On their return from the honeymoon, Lieut. and Mrs. Izard will reside in Victoria.

Civilian Repats From Orient Cared for Here

Elizabeth and Douglas Scott (left), with May and Robert Wallace, civilian repatriates from the Orient, as they left the Red Cross Reception Centre at Colwood for their homes in the British Isles. Douglas Scott was on the staff of the Mercantile Bank of India. He and Mrs. Scott were taken prisoners in April, 1941, from a ship in the Indian Ocean, and held in a camp at Takishima, north of Tokio. Mr. Wallace was in the Chinese Maritime Customs. With Mrs. Wallace he was taken prisoner at Hong-kong on Christmas Day, 1941, and held in Stanley camp until released.

A big stone fireplace in the lounge at the Red Cross Reception Centre at Colwood, with its flame of burning logs, has been one of the keenest delights of those civilian repatriates from the Orient, who have reached Victoria during the past month.

They gather around it gleefully, and as they watch the leaping flames seem to realize (some for the first time) that they have really come back to a normal way of living again.

Each small group of civilians reaching here has been met by a representative of the Victoria Red Cross Society and taken immediately to the Colwood Centre, formerly the R.C.A.F. Convalescent Hospital, where they were cared for until the time arrived for them to start on the next step of their long journey home.

First hours at the centre have been memorable and exciting. The Red Cross Society helps get in touch with relatives. Cables are sent to the British Isles. Telegrams and telephone calls to those in Canada, and a real contact is made with home.

Next step is an issue of necessary clothing. Windbreakers, tweed pants or skirts, shirts or blouses, woolen underwear. All new and clean. All made to fit. All a reasonable match.

The United States army issue, which filled a great need and was much appreciated, is finally discarded with a sigh of relief for clothes that look and feel more "like home."

Women are given the cosmetics they have longed for, and appointments are made for new and up-to-date "hairdos" to help boost morale.

CLOTHING ALLOWANCE

A clothing allowance is arranged through the Department of Immigration for suits, overcoats, hats and shoes. When the time comes for the repatriates to go into the city to spend this allowance, there is someone at the centre to go with them as an adviser and to assist in any way needed.

Linen Shower Held At Jubilee Hospital

The room where donations were received was a busy place at the linen shower and tea sponsored by the W.A. to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Friday afternoon, in the Nurses' Home.

Those in charge checked and sorted 512 pieces of linen, including bath towels, hand towels, tea towels, face cloths, table napkins, pillow slips, bedspreads and blankets. In addition a sum of $245.85 was received.

The largest single donation was that of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo, Duncan, who sent ten large blankets and 60 large bath towels for the shower.

Guests were received by Mrs. W. J. C. Church, president of the W.A., assisted by Mrs. H. J. Pendray, general convener for the afternoon.

Afternoon tea was served in the spacious lounge from a table covered with an all-over lace cloth, centred with a low flower arrangement of deep pink chrysanthemums, flanked with tall white tapers in silver holders. Presiding at the tea urns were: Mrs. Troy L. Perkins, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah and Miss Sara Spencer. Assisting in serving were: Mesdames David McMillan, Fred Pollard, George S. Brown, G. W. C. Bissett, W. G. Thorpe and L. A. Bates.

A program arranged by Mrs. Charles S. Henley, included selections by the musical trio, Trudy, Edith and Bobby MacGill, and dances by Beverly and Jacqueline Ivings, Kathryn Goodlands, Shirley Green and Rae Evenden. Others assisting during the afternoon were: Lienes, Mrs. V. Leigh and Mrs. C. D. Pender; tea, Mrs. A. A. Blyth and Mrs. L. B. Howey; decorations, Mrs. Fred Pollard; door receipts, Mrs. R. H. Oliver and Mrs. N. A. Beckett; tea tickets, Mrs. David Scott.

May and Robert Wallace pose with the Indian sweaters presented to them while in Victoria. "Meet and talk to men and women like this," says Dr. Bradley, who has been medical adviser at the centre, "and one begins to realize just what freedom really means."

Perhaps it is only to give confidence in crossing a crowded street, or in entering a busy bank. Things the average Victorian does every day without thinking, but to a man or woman who has spent months behind prison walls, a big undertaking, the first time it is attempted again.

Health is another thing that is of vital importance to every repatriate. Each man, woman and child is given a medical check-up at the centre. Dr. L. O. Bradley, who was in charge of the Convalescent Hospital, sees that they get the vitamin pills they need. Under the supervision of Mrs. J. L. Godman, the house mother, they are fed nourishing and health-giving food. The military authorities give them a complete X-ray.

Every evening—no matter what they have been doing during the day—they gather again at the big fireplace in the lounge. They want to talk, and they are encouraged to do just that. Sympathetic visitors sit with them and listen as they tell of their experiences.

At first these civilian repats who for months and years have known nothing but sordid repression and regimentation, are wildly excited with their newfound freedom. Gradually, as the days go by, they regain a semblance of calm, and find a degree of self-confidence. Within 10 days or two weeks, they are ready to continue the journey to their homes.

The staff at Colwood Centre with Mrs. Godman consists of a cook, two cook's helpers and two drivers. A corp of voluntary Red Cross workers, under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Ker, are on call for every emergency.

The skirl of the bagpipes leading the grand march down the broad staircase into the rotunda opened the 32nd annual ball of the Victoria City Police at the Empress Hotel Friday evening.

Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, under the leadership of Pipe-Major Nancy Chalmers, led the march. Preaded by Lt.-Col. Brooke Stephenson, Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward escorted Mrs. F. E. George, followed by Mayor Percy George and Mrs. Woodward. Mrs. Woodward was gowned in black chiffon with a diamond brooch caught at the low neckline. Mrs. George wore a black dinner dress with a gold-beaded neckline.

Miss Ruth Maclean, wearing oyster white crepe with wide gold belt, and Detective Henry Jarvis were followed by Mrs. J. A. McLellan in pale rose lace with Chief A. N. Morken of Bremerton. Chief J. A. McLellan escorted Mrs. Morken, who was wearing black taffeta with striking gold trim.

Others leading the grand march were: Assistant Chief and Mrs. E. B. Bakenhus of Seattle; Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and Mrs. Margaret Christie, Magistrate and Mrs. Henry Hall, Capt. E. Gadsden, Inspector R. C. Bowen, R.C.M.P., and Mrs. Bowen, Ald. and Mrs. F. A. Willis Fire Chief and Mrs. J. Raymond, Capt. and Mrs. E. Phillips of Bremerton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neary, and Inspector and Mrs. J. Blackstock.

Dancing took place in the Crystal Ballroom, decorated for the occasion with flags of the United States and Britain. Behind Tickle's 12-piece orchestra on the raised dais a large paint-

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix: I worked hard and made a fortune, which I lavished on my children, who are now all grown. Through no fault of my own I have now lost my money, and my children abuse me for not having a fortune for them to spend. Why should they be so ungrateful when I gave them everything when I had it.

A BROKENHEARTED FATHER.

Answer: I suspect that the reason why your children are selfish and ungrateful is because you spoiled them, because you rear them to think of nothing but themselves and their own pleasure. I am strongly of the opinion that parents reap just what they sow in their children, and that when their children mistreat them it is their own fault. You cannot cultivate selfishness and greediness and lack of consideration for others in anybody for 20 or 30 years, and then expect them to be unselfish and considerate and altruistic.

Every father writes his own price tag for his children. If he lets them: speak impudently to him and defy his opinion while they are little, they will curse him when they are grown and treat him with contempt. But if he forces them to treat him with respect, they grow up honoring and reverencing him. If a father makes of himself nothing but a cash register for his family, he should not be surprised that they kick him around when the register is empty.

If you had taught your children to think of you and do things for you and to appreciate what you did for them when they were young, you would not now have cause to complain of their treatment of you.

The Inside Nerves

Fatigue comes from the nerves. When you are bodily tired, you feel it in the arms, legs and back. But the inside nerves which control the bodily organs are also tired and the result is indigestion, headaches, loss of sleep and general lack of energy. You will see by the illustration how the sympathetic nervous system, through the inside nerves, supplies energy to the bodily organs—The lungs, the stomach, etc.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can very materially help to restore energy and vigor to these bodily organs and relieve the feelings of fatigue and languor which hold you down.

The result is better digestion, better sleep and renewed energy with which to enjoy life. Ask your druggist for the economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Canadian Book Week

With the advent of Canadian Book Week, starting today, the citizens of the Dominion will be given an opportunity to provide a needed stimulus for Canadian literature. Canada has now attained a size and importance among the nations that warrants a far greater literary prominence than she has yet achieved. Throughout next week Canadian books will be on display in the libraries and book stores, and it is to be hoped that purchases will be liberal.

Canada has now fairly passed the stage in which the national energy had to be absorbed in pioneering and building up. From ocean to ocean the base of civilization has been firmly established; yet so far our writers have been scattered voices crying in the wilderness. We have had no Elizabethan, no New England era yet. We are not looking for another Shakespeare or Emerson, since attempts at imitation, even of the greatest, are not desirable. But something should be done to encourage Canadian writers to express Canadian life. In the past we have driven many of our best across the border in order that they might make a living. We should begin to keep them at home. To do this it would seem a patriotic duty on the part of Canadians to patronize those writers who are struggling to build a literature representative of the nation's greatness, and who are doing it at home. Many of these will be found worthy of the test, and if, during the following week their fellow countrymen will give them a trial, they will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that they are helping a worthy cause.

ALEX BENEKRITIS
GLEN HARRISON

Junction Radio Service which opened here two weeks ago is the fulfillment of a plan formed by two navy men, Alex Benekritis and Glen Harrison when they were stationed together in Newfoundland. Working there as radio artificers they decided to go into business for themselves as soon as the war ended. Both enlisted at the outbreak of war and finished with the rank of chief petty officer. Mr. Benekritis, who had his own radio servicing company in Lethbridge before the war, was on North Atlantic convoy serving in the Mahone, Sherbrooke, Georgian, and was also stationed on the Pacific coast. He resided at 1426 Gladstone Avenue, with his wife and young son. Mr. Harrison served on North Atlantic convoy in the Chilliwack. A graduate of North Saanich High School, he completed a Sprott-Shaw course as a radio operator before enlisting. With his wife, a former Montreal girl, he makes his home at 2624 Fernwood Road.

GUY BARCLAY

One of the first of the B.C. Electric employees to go on active service, Guy Barclay, 2981 Foul Bay Road, returned Thursday to the company's staff with a promotion to resident mechanical engineer. Mr. Barclay, a major in the R.C.E.M.E., was an officer in the Canadian Scottish and went active Sept. 1, 1939. Six months later he transferred to the R.C.O.C. and when the electrical and mechanical section of the ordinance corps became the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, he automatically transferred. He has seen service in England and Europe, and commanded a workshop in England before proceeding to the continent with the Second Division in July last year. Mr. Barclay was formerly with the company's meter department, and is a graduate mechanical and electrical engineer.

Round-table Parley
On Home Building

Need of factual information for returning veterans and young people, desirous of building homes in the Greater Victoria area, has prompted the Council of Social Agencies to sponsor a round table conference in the Chamber of Commerce, Nov. 20, for discussion of various phases of the subject.

Speakers will consider the question of material scarcities, labor costs, municipal restrictions, individual or group building priorities and the matter of finance.

Young people will be invited to take part in the discussion and plans will be made for further study.

"The Council of Social Agencies hopes to enlist public support in providing all possible assistance and encouragement to those young people who, by means of war gratuities or war savings, are in a position to take the initial steps toward provision of a home for themselves," a member of the council said today.

Committees Named
By Film Council

The Greater Victoria Film Council, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, set up committees with chairmen as follows: Educational, Herbert Sabiston; previewing, buying, cataloguing, T. E. Gray; finance, co-ordinating, T. M. Little; promotional, F. E. Norris; publicity, personnel, forums, Charles Patrick; equipment, membership, M. F. Hunter.

As a member of the British Columbia Co-operative Film Exchange the council has received the first allotment of new films. The films are circulated from the Victoria Public Library.

It is the purpose of the Greater Victoria Film Council to broaden the scope of education through the use of films. Organizations interested in this project are invited to send delegates to the next meeting, Dec. 6.

By PETE SALLAWAY

RECENT signing of Gus Lesnevich to defend his world light-heavyweight championship in a bout at Portland against Joe Kahut in January brings to light an interesting story. It's one of the best boxing yarns in years, and a flareback to the good old days when there was vastly more glamour and romance in prize fighting than there is today and considerably more sportsmanship. In those days fighters fought more for glory than gold and a championship meant more than just an added attraction at the box office.

THE PROPOSITION as outlined by the veteran Portland promoter Joe Waterman is really something. Lesnevich, back in civvies following 42 months in the coast guard gets $20,000 and $2,000 in the way of expense money for fighting Kahut 15 rounds. Jack Dempsey will referee. Decisions are left to the referee alone in Oregon, which is as it should be. Wise guys thought Waterman silly when he announced that Lesnevich and Kahut, virtually unknown outside of the Pacific Northwest and who has never appeared outside of his native Oregon, would battle in a place accommodating no more than 5,100 jammed to the rafters.

BUT THEY had not figured on the home-town folk. A thousand of them, including dairy farmers around Kahut's old home town of Woodburn, are going to pay $50 for seats. Aaron Frank, Portland department store tycoon, has already signed up for 100. There alone, Waterman has Lesnevich's purse and then some. Kahut gets the legitimate challenger's share of 12 1/2 per cent, but would be glad to fight for the opportunity. Undeclared in over a year, Kahut never boxed as an amateur, breaking into the professional ranks four years ago. He has 20 knockouts in 36 starts and has only lost twice.

ANOTHER peculiar boxing situation has cropped up in New York where commissioner Eddie Egan has come out with a statement he will revoke Mike Jacobs' promoter's license if he takes the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight fight elsewhere. What sound reason could Egan give for such an action? This writer always had the naive idea that a boxing commissioner's duty was to see that boxing was properly conducted, not to make matches or to produce an income of taxes for a certain locality. Maybe it's just another bit of hallyhoo for next June's scrap.

U.S. Cup Tennis Prospects

Lack Strong Doubles

NEW YORK (AP)—American tennis officials were scanning the field today for players capable of wrestling the Davis Cup from Australia. The final matches are scheduled there for December, 1946. Official challenge from the United States arrived at the office of the Australian Lawn Tennis Association in Melbourne yesterday.

The announcement that the first postwar challenge for the 45-year-old international trophy had been received by the country that has held it since 1939 set off immediate speculation here as to the team that will be selected to try and bring it back.

Great Britain, Australia and the United States have monopolized cup challenge rounds since 1933, which marked the last time France was represented in the final round. It likely will take the players of France and Great Britain two years to return to cup form after almost six years of war.

Walter Pate, captain of United States cup teams from 1935 through 1939, and presently chairman of the U.S.L.T.A.'s Davis Cup committee of management, said Frankie Parker and Bill Talbot must be included in any guessing on the makeup of the U.S. team. They've opposed each other in the finals of the 1944-45 national singles championships, and each time Parker has defeated his rival.

Another pair of likely candidates is Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Bobby Falkenberg, the Hollywood, Calif., youngster.

Needed is a strong doubles team to oppose the Australian tandem of Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist, who won their last two challenge-round doubles matches. They also represented Australia in singles. It would be heartening, Pate said, if the United States could count on Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder, national doubles champions in 1940 and 1941. Kramer and Parker won the U.S. doubles in 1943.

Great Britain, France, Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Argentina and Ecuador are expected to challenge for the trophy.

Lake Hill Leads In Table Tennis

Registering their third straight win at the expense of MacDonald Electric, 21 to 15, Lake Hill Canteen moved to the top of the standings in the senior section of the Victoria Table Tennis Association. In other matches, Painter Bros. and Robinson's Grocery triumphed over Comets and Glants respectively, by identical 20 to 10 scores, and Gonzales walloped Aces 29 to 7.

Team and scores follow: Lake Hill Canteen—K. Olson 7, D. Robinson 6, W. McGregor 5, J. Oxley 1, doubles 2.

MacDonalds—W. Browne-Cave 7, G. Southern 3, T. Brown 2, E. Lambert 1, doubles 2.

Painter Bros.—W. Cotton 8, G. Wilson 5, D. Tuffley 4, F. MacDonald 0, doubles 3.

Comets—R. Lowe 6, J. Payne 4, G. Lindsay 3, R. Cridge 2, doubles 1.

Robinsons—W. Robinson 6, B. McKay 5, J. Olson 3, F. Wight 4, doubles 2.

Glants—R. Dawson 8, D. Robinson 4, A. Dawnham 2, J. Morris 0, doubles 2.

Gonzales—R. Payne 8, D. Southern 6, V. McVicar 6, J. Derry 7, doubles 2.

Aces—V. Tulley 0 (default), G. Fish 5, A. Wight 0, T. Derry 0, doubles 2.

Hunting and Angling

By CAP THORSEN

Rainbow trout weighing from two to four pounds—some heavier—were reeled in by local anglers this week when fishing in the upper reaches of the Cowichan River boomed during a six-day period. By midweek, however, the incessant rains had swelled the river so much the "good fishing" reports had to be withdrawn.

Up at Riverside on the river for the six-day period was the angling team of Arthur Christopher, well-known city golfer and title-holder, and S. K. Campbell, manager of the main branch of the Bank of Commerce. They bagged nine of the multi-colored river beauties. They were fishing wet, using red parmachene hackel fly. Using the same fly, Harry Robinson and Wally Bowden did well from Friday to Sunday. On Tuesday veterans of the art, Creagh Allen and Jack Grey scored a basket of four fish. They were wading. Fishing about a mile below the headwaters Jim Burbridge was successful early this week.

In the opinion of Roger Monteith, an authority on the fine arts of fishing, the period when Christopher and Campbell were at the river, "fishing was at its best in many years."

'STAY-AT-HOME' POLICY

Continuous inclement weather—rain and wind—caused a general "stay-at-home" policy on the part of salt water anglers during the week. Both Cowichan Bay and Saanich Inlet were visited by few rod artists. Those who did brave the elements, however, did have success.

There was Don Muir and Geo. Wells, for instance, who spent three hours on the up-island bay waters on Tuesday and netted seven "lovely fresh-run coho"—best fishing we've had all season," they reported. Abalone spoons lured this catch. George Lane bagged a couple Sunday. An unidentified party of anglers, fishing light and using abalone spoons, chalked up a catch of seven, also on the Sabbath. All reports are that these coho are fresh-run. While the Cowichan Bay season is not expected to last much longer, a couple of weeks or so, anglers are waiting for a spot of good weather to take a last fling at the sport there.

SAANICH GRILSE
In spite of what skeptics might say—Saanich Inlet is still producing grilse and the odd coho. A three-hour trip on Sunday by Dan Thomas and George Bridges saw them bring back nine grilse and three coho. They were fishing light, using abalone spoons. They fished the waters between Bamerton and the island.

HUNTING
Interview game department officials this week I found that hunting licenses taken out in this area were extremely high, much greater than last year's total. The reasons: Gas rationing off, more shells available, more hunting enthusiasts back from the services—and, most important, desire to offset the meat rationing with game bags. Fishing licenses were reported to be up over last year.

Three buck deer were weighed in this week in the Sylvester U-Drive island deer competition, bringing the entry to 24 specimens. Latest entries were scored by R. Lee, an eight-pointer at Shawinigan. Frank Jay, a four-pointer in the same area, and J. F. Wroten, a six-pointer in the Campbell River country.

Blue and willow grouse season closed Saturday. More quail are in evidence this year, and the hope is that the winter will be mild so that there will be enough birds on hand to warrant an open season next year.

DUCK OFFERINGS POOR
Regarding ducks. Poor bags to date. Hunters believe the water fowl have got wise to the fact there are certain areas where they are safe from the gun—the sanctuaries. A lot of them are said to be "holed up" there. Rough, windy weather outside would send a lot of the birds here. However, the big migration has not started yet from the north, not cold enough up there.

At a gathering of Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association Chinook Club executives Thursday night E. R. S. Whittington was announced the winner of the latest Chinook competition, yours truly drawing his name. The Chinookers have been labeled "the elite" of the association by virtue of the fact that only by catching the big-time button fish can one become a member of this select group. Chinook executives present were: President Harry Wroton, Dr. Gordon Grant, Dan Thomas and Chester Alexander.

Disqualification Voids $8,614 Double

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—De-tach, 30-to-1 long shot which won Rockingham Park's daily double Oct. 16 and paid $8,614.40 each to three bettors, has been disqualified, track steward Charles B. Stickney announced today.

The horse was disqualified for running under the wrong ownership and Wayne L. the second horse, was declared the winner.

He did not indicate what the track would do about the winners of the big double, highest in American racing history.

Archer Scores Second Straight

NEW YORK (AP)—Freddie Archer, 147-pound Newark, N.J., cloutier, made it two in a row over Cpl. Fritz Zivic Friday night by outpointing the former welterweight champion in 10 rounds before a capacity crowd of 4,271 in the St. Nicholas Arena.

Recovering from a surprise opening barrage which all but floored him, the Jersey youngster came on to outgasp and out-punch the 153-pound Pittsburgh veteran all but a small part of the rest of the way and repeat the victory he scored 18 months ago.

Except for the first round, when Zivic caught Archer coming in with a fast one-two and capitalized on the advantage, and the 10th, when Fritz staged a desperate closing rally, the Jerseyan held the edge. Fritz also clubbed his rival with rights in the sixth, but lost the round on a foul by sinking a low punch just before the bell.

Archer scored heavily through the early going with a windmill, two-fisted body attack that had Zivic's ribs resembling a field of tomatoes by the sixth round, and with short hooks to the head. The personal feeling between the two became considerably heated in the first half of the tussle, and they fought for several seconds after the bell ending the third and fourth rounds.

Zivic's rights raised a lump alongside Freddie's left eye as early as the third. There were no knockdowns, but Zivic slipped momentarily to the deck in the 10th. There was some wild boozing at the decision, and Fritz drew a big hand from the crowd, which chipped in to a gross gate of $13,962, when he left the ring.

Added Regulations For Amateur Hockey

MIDDLETON, N.S. (CP)—Hanson Dowell, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, today announced the following additions to the regulations that govern amateur hockey in Canada:

A player who has been in one of the armed services and who has been discharged before signing and playing with an affiliated club this season is a free agent.

A player who has been and is still in one of the armed services, and who is stationed in the centre in which he played last season, is the property of the club with which he played last season.

A player who is on industrial leave and who is located in the centre in which he played last season is the property of the club with which he played last season.

A player who has been on industrial leave which expires or a player who is discharged from one of the armed services after the hockey season starts is the property of the club with which he starts the present season.

Toronto Indians Smother Windsor To Tie Beaches

TORONTO (CP)—The "streamlined football" that coach Lew Hayman promised for his Toronto Indians appeared just long enough against Windsor Rockets to give a sudden-death aspect today to Indians' final scheduled Ontario Rugby Union match against Toronto Balmy Beach.

Indians whipped the hapless Rockets 14 to 2 here last night and the victory lifted them into a first-place tie with the Beach. With both Toronto teams ending their schedule in a clash here next week, it meant the victory would carry the stamp of regular league playoffs start immediately afterwards.

Leading only 3 to 2 at half-time, the Indians finally got under way in a third quarter that may have eased Hayman's mind. Touchdowns by fleet-footed Ross McKelvey and fleet-footed Speed Poyer put Toronto into a position where it mattered little that Rockets fought them scores.

An overhead attack, with Anis Stukus and McKelvey pitching, featured the third-quarter action, but there was little else of the "razzle-dazzle" that Hayman promised to interject into the Indians' attack when he took over coaching duties in mid-season.

Its absence was conspicuous enough to raise a suspicion there was a surprise being prepared for Balmy Beach.

Cruckshank Leads In Richmond Golf

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bobby Cruckshank, a threat in tournament golf for 30 years, set the pace in the $10,000 Richmond invitational golf tournament with a par-equaling 71, a stroke better than any of the big-name professionals could manage over the windswept Hermitage Country Club course.

The lead of Cruckshank, professional at the Country Club of Virginia here, may be of short duration, for when darkness settled over the course with some of the field of 177 golfers unable to complete the first 18 holes, Frank Kingle of Linden, N.J., was three under par through the 15th hole. Kingle and a dozen or so others were to complete their first rounds early today.

A stroke back of Cruckshank, among those to finish, were Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., Ed. (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., Ky. Lafton of Chicago Jimmy Hines of New York and Willie Goggin of White Plains, N.Y.

Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., encountered trouble and had to stop at 74.

Bill Dickey May Pilot Boston Club

CHICAGO (AP)—That log crackling brightest in baseball's hot stove league is a guess that Lieut. Bill Dickey, strong man catcher of the New York Yankees, will be the next manager of the Boston Braves.

The guess comes from a set of unusual coincidences. Both Lou Perini and John Quinn, president and general manager of the Braves, respectively, were here for the baseball draft.

But up pops Lieut. Dickey from the west coast. "I'm just stopping off here," Dickey told reporters, but he wouldn't say yes and he wouldn't say no, when asked if he planned to confer with Perini or Quinn.

Soccer School

With Jim Lewis head of the Calgary Referee's Association, as guest speaker, a large group of youngsters attended the sixth session of the Victoria soccer school last night.

Interspersing his remarks with a lot of humorous comment, Lewis kept his audience interested as he gave a comprehensive summary of the laws of the game.

Rangers Battle Leafs In Tonight's Hockey

A revolutionary "shuttle system" of netminding, conceived three years ago by coach Frank Boucher, moves out of the blue print stage tonight when New York Rangers meet Toronto Maple Leafs in one of five week-end National Hockey League contests.

Boucher, one of hockey's foremost idea men, announced that Claude (Chuck) Rayner would replace Sugar Jim Henry in the Ranger nets for the game at Toronto, and that subsequently the two goalies—firm friends on and off the ice—would be alternated between the pipes in remaining league games.

Henry played goal last Wednesday as Rangers lost, 5 to 1, to Chicago Black Hawks in New York's 1945-46 debut.

Boucher admits the scheme of alternating netminders is radical—but not so radical as Boucher would like. If Rangers were not undergoing a new war-readiness at the moment, Rayner and Henry would be alternated as frequently as forward lines.

This quick-change substitution system was tried in a recent game between Rangers and St. Paul of the United States League, said Boucher, with the goalies alternated every four to six minutes. "It wasn't even noticeable," he said of the shifts, without revealing whether the experiment fulfilled his expectations.

Other week-end N.H.L. games may settle the current leadership deadlock between Chicago and Montreal Canadiens, now tied with two victories apiece. The undefeated Canadiens entertain Detroit Red Wings Saturday and oppose the winless Bruins in Boston Sunday.

Chicago, beaten once in three starts, are at home to Leafs Sunday. In the fifth week-end game, Rangers play at Detroit Sunday.

In both their week-end games, Rangers will be without defenseman Murray (Muzz) Patrick. The six-foot, three-inch rearguard injured a cartilage in a knee when checked by Reg Hamilton of Chicago last Wednesday.

Caplanos May Play Sundays at Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Bill Mulligan, business manager of the Seattle Rainiers, said Friday the Vancouver Caplanos might play their Sunday home games in the Western International League next season in the Seattle Pacific Coast League Park.

"It would fill the professional baseball void in Seattle while the Rainiers are traveling and give the Vancouver team a chance for some Sunday attendance in home games," he said, adding that Sunday baseball was banned in the Canadian city.

In Tacoma, meanwhile, it was announced that Enoch Alexson had purchased that city's franchise in the W.I. circuit, and would build a new park.

The league's directors meet this week-end in Victoria, B.C.

A Man Sent From God

Now that the world knows of the murders, atrocities and hardships, suffered by the P.O.W.'s in the Japanese prison camps, I consider it my duty to bring home to the minds of the people of Canada and England, the story of a man who was sent from God and placed among us in our prison camp as medical officer—a man who has won for himself the love and esteem and respect of hundreds of men with whom he was imprisoned.

The name, Maj. B. M. Wheeler, I.M.S. His home in Manitoba, Canada. He will remain inscribed in the hearts of these men for the rest of their lives.

The prison camp to which I refer was one of many in Formosa, and was known as the "Mining Camp." The camp commander was of typical Japanese stock and can well be referred to as a fanatical tyrant. It gave him great pleasure to walk into the hospital hut and sneer at patients whom he knew had no hopes of recovery. He punished those unable to work by cutting their food ration by half. The normal diet consisted of rice and soup made of roots and weeds, boiled seaweed featured on the menu daily.

The men sick in camp lived in dread of the Japanese guards. The butts of their rifles were used frequently to persuade prisoners to pay respect to them by standing at attention and bowing. Prisoners often preferred to take the beating rather than accept this humiliation.

The treatment in the mine in which prisoners were forced to work was even worse than that of the camp. The day's work started by everyone being given a set task to do. Those failing to do some were lined up and beaten within an inch of their lives by the Japanese foremen—using a mining hammer as a substitute for a rifle butt. They knew that the men could not work as well as expected, through physical condition, through hunger and illness being at the lowest ebb. The appalling conditions also at the working "face" made it impossible for the men to produce the work demanded. Here it was so hot that those working on drilling and taking stone away from the "face" were obliged to work in the nude—but not for long—five minutes being the longest period one could live at some of the "faces," there being practically no air present.

Faith also played a great part in the lives of these men. On entering the mine in the morning they could not say for sure if they would live to see the day through. A number of their pals were killed from time to time. Two men were killed one day, buried alive under 50 tons of stone, from a "cave-in," a tragedy that in a civilized country would be front page news. Cases of men being injured in the mine were numerous, so numerous in fact, that it was no wonder the little camp hospital was filled to capacity.

The medical room adjoined the hospital where the men reported for treatment each evening and were received there by Major Wheeler. To these men the major was life, parent and guiding star. The medicine and drugs at his disposal were hopelessly inadequate. The Japanese when asked for a supply of same, refused, saying "No got." However, the major made continuous demands in the interests of his men. If he considered a man unfit for work he demanded of the Japs that the man be given a rest and a chance to recover his health. Men falling seriously ill were ordered into the hospital to come under his own special care and attention. The magnificent way in which he worked and fought for the lives of these men had a heartening effect on the morale of the rest of the men of the camp. Working day and night diagnosing diseases so unfamiliar in normal life. Malnutrition, beri-beri, dysentery, fever and worms of all descriptions. His fine surgical achievements can well be referred to as a "miracle." It has been known of the major to perform serious operations without an anesthetic and without the necessary surgical instruments. A pair of scissors and a razor blade often served as substitutes. Broken bones set without plastic and cases of men saved the horror of being crippled for life were numerous. He made ingenious splints for those with fractured limbs, gave hours of daily massage for those suffering from paralysis. Needless to say, over 100 men died in the camp, but it is also true that hundreds of lives were saved in this little prison hospital.

A liberated P.O.W. said of the major, when he proposed a toast, "To the finest man I have ever met and the greatest doctor."

So it is with sincere enthusiasm that I make an appeal to those in the position, to bring this to the notice of the army authorities, that this man, Major Wheeler, I.M.S., be honored among the war heroes.

Greater Victoria To Meet Thursday On Gilman Report

A meeting of the four municipalities of Greater Victoria to study and discuss the proposals of the Gilman report on the taking over of the B.C. Electric Railway utilities, will be held Thursday afternoon, Mayor Percy George announced today.

Originally the meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, but the emergency meeting of the 31 municipalities called by Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver to reconsider the whole matter of public ownership of the utilities in the light of Premier Hart's reiterated statement that the province would not undertake the distribution of power, nor the operation of gas and transportation utilities, has intervened.

Mayor George expressed agreement with Premier Hart it would probably be preferable to give the municipal areas concerned some say in the personnel of the Utilities Boards to be appointed in the event that it is decided to take over municipal ownership of public utilities after the referendum on the matter in December.

In discussions on the Gilman Report, which recommended that any such boards be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, Mayor George, both in Victoria and Vancouver, expressed the opinion that the municipal areas should at least have some say on one or two members.

However, Mayor George feels that this is a small detail which can be easily ironed out once the larger question of public ownership is decided one way or another.

The mayor was at a loss to understand Mayor Cornett's further reference to "the government will not operate any phase of the B.C. Electric system."

"While there is no legislation yet set up to deal with the municipal part of the B.C. Electric," the mayor said, "the act deals clearly with the power generation units."

"In both the Gilman Report and the act, it is clearly set out that the provincial government will acquire and operate all generation and transmission of power, with the municipalities acting merely as retailing agencies to the consumers. The municipalities will, of course, operate the B.C. Electric system."

Surplus Equipment In Europe To Be Sold, Says Abbott

OTTAWA (CP)—Any Canadian army equipment in Europe which is not needed in Canada will be declared surplus and presumably will be disposed of in Europe by War Assets Corporation, Defence Minister Abbott said in the Commons Friday afternoon.

Mr. Abbott said that any equipment needed in Canada would be returned. It was planned to keep the Canadian army active force and the Canadian army reserve force modernized.

Lt.-Col. D. S. Harkness, P.C., Calgary East, asked what steps were being taken to ensure that guns sold overseas did not fall into unauthorized hands.

Mr. Abbott said there was some arrangement among the Allies to govern the sale of weapons.

Replying to Capt. John Probe, C.C.F., Regina City, the minister said a "fairly substantial" number of army vehicles have been turned over to War Assets Corporation for disposal.

Capt. Probe asked what amount of bulldozers and road-building equipment has been declared surplus.

Mr. Abbott said such equipment was in short supply in Canada and he understood it was the type of equipment being brought back from overseas.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., P.C., Nanaimo, asked assurance that landing craft used in combined operations would be repaired and kept in shape. He said Mr. Abbott had stated that combined operations continue in peacetime. It was important the operations be continued.

Mr. Abbott said he could give assurance the landing craft would be repaired.

CAIRO (AP)—Anti-Zionist riots broke out in Cairo again today but were swiftly suppressed by police.

Heavy patrols remained on guard duty throughout the city to prevent further renewal of the bloody violence which Friday cost six lives in Alexandria and left hundreds wounded in Cairo, Alexandria, Port Said and other Egyptian cities.

Maj.-Gen. T. W. Fitzpatrick, acting commandant of Cairo police, personally directed his men as they broke up crowds which were stoning business establishments in the city's main business district today.

Windows of most shops along Soliman Pasha Street were smashed and merchants were forced to shutter their stores before the short-lived outbreak was quelled.

The new flare-up came after Premier Nokrashi Pasha had blamed the Balfour anniversary fighting Friday on "riff-raff" and predicted there would be no recurrence of mob violence.

The rioters stoned the Metro cinema theatre on Soliman Pasha Street, one of the main thoroughfares.

Then they swept on to other main squares. Police toured the city in army trucks in an effort to forestall further fighting.

STORES NOT REOPENED

Crowds continued to mill through Cairo's Malika Farida Square, centre of the capital's heaviest battles Friday. Jewish shops in that section made no effort to reopen. Heavy police patrols protected them from looting.

Shouts of "Down with Zionism" were heard as college students demonstrated within their school grounds.

In Alexandria's shopping centre not one pane of glass remained intact. Communications were at a standstill, cafes closed and theatres not operating.

Premier Nokrashi said Cairo casualties totaled 320, including 30 police, while 200 were injured in Alexandria. He reported more than 300 arrests in Cairo, including 150 for looting.

The Premier, who drove to the scene of one of Friday's riots, said he personally had arrested several looters when the mob raided a large department store.

The interior of one Cairo synagogue was smashed. Rioters overturned streetcars and attacked Jewish homes as well as places of business.

Abolish Nazi Courts

BERLIN (AP)—The Allied Control Council formally abolished the Nazi judicial system Friday and reorganized the German courts on the basis of the judiciary law of 1877.

The council re-established the system of police, country and superior courts, providing for their de-nazification and denied them jurisdiction in cases involving Allied forces or matters of occupational control.

Silver Tea—At the monthly meeting of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at headquarters, Mrs. A. Brian was appointed convener for the silver tea to be held at the home of Miss G. A. Hill, 159 Cook Street, Nov. 20. The regent, Mrs. D. J. Murgford, was in the chair. Articles to the value of $15.40 were sent in, also a finished afghan. Mrs. W. B. McMicking, war convener, reported. The regent gave a report on the semi-annual meeting at New Westminster.

Returning After Many Experiences

Mrs. Hugh Stephen, Seacroft Apartments, Oak Bay, has received a cable from her husband, Capt. Hugh Stephen, Canadian Intelligence Corps, from Singapore stating that he is on the American battleship Tennessee, which is sailing via Colombo and Cape Town for America. He hopes to reach Victoria in the early part of December.

Capt. Stephen enlisted here as a gunner, a week before the outbreak of war and after promotion to sergeant, he was given a commission. He served at various forts around the coast and was then made adjutant of the 5th B.C. Coast Regiment, a position he held for over a year.

Subsequently, he was sent to the Canadian Army Japanese Language School at Vancouver, and in the early part of this year he was attached to the British army (South East Asia command). In charge of a party of eight officers, he was taken by plane from Montreal to India, where he helped conduct psychological warfare against the Japanese.

Later, he went to Burma and was present at Government House, Rangoon, when the Japanese signed the surrender documents. Next he was sent to Singapore where he edited a weekly newspaper in Japanese (in civilian life he was a journalist), and was responsible for

13,066 Surplus Concentrated in War Work Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployed persons registered at National Employment offices exceeded available jobs by 13,066 at Oct. 26, the Labor Department reported Friday and in its periodic survey showed for the first time an excess of workers over available jobs.

Jobs available for men, apart from logging, numbered 67,012 while there were 109,410 men looking for jobs. For the women there were 31,761 vacancies and 34,906 applicants.

MOSTLY WAR WORKERS

"For the most part the surplus of workers is still concentrated in industrial centres where the cessation of shipbuilding and other war activities has released some thousands of workers," the department said. "Of the 17 largest cities across Canada 12 now report that the number of unemployed applicants is in excess of the vacancies to be filled locally."

Leading industrial centres at Oct. 26 with unfilled vacancies and unemployed applicants (in brackets) included Winnipeg, 3,612 (6,294); Saskatoon, 587 (945); Regina 902 (1,227); Edmonton, 2,298 (4,005); Calgary, 1,495 (2,052); Vancouver, 5,704 (11,982); Victoria, 654 (1,743).

Fewer City Lots Sold This Year

A marked drop in the number of parcels of land sold by the City Lands Department was noted in October this year from October, 1944. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the city lands committee, said today:

"During October of this year 34 parcels of land were sold, for a total of $9,271.50, while in 1944, 84 parcels were sold for $16,440. Total number of lots sold this year to date are 352, for $90,941.85, compared with 406 lots sold during the 10-month period in 1944 for $132,324.40.

Total cash receipts coming into the lands department during the month were $19,249.48, compared with $12,617.69 for October, 1944.

Total cash receipts to date this year are $144,981.62, and $171,978.63 for the first 10 months of 1944.

Miss Marion Foster, program secretary, reported on the activities of the club department. A H-Y recognition service will be held Nov. 18, at Christ Church Cathedral, with Canon Michael Coleman as speaker. The Christmas bazaar will be held Dec. 1. ## Bomb Disposal Explosion Felt

Army officers at Esquimalt Fortress said late Friday that an explosion heard at 1.05 p.m. was the result of normal bomb disposal operations now being carried out.

The blast shook some downtown buildings, broke one or two windows in Esquimalt, and was heard at Royal Oak and Lake Hill. For more than two hours its source remained a mystery and citizens phoned newspaper offices and police in vain to find out what had happened.

The bomb disposal operations were under control, army authorities said, and the blast today probably will be the loudest heard by Victorians.

Officers in charge of the explosives disposal stated this afternoon that the detonations were probably amplified by the low sky ceiling in the area today.

The explosions were heard in all parts of the city.

To Improve Lighting In Residence Areas

Plans for extensive improvement of Victoria's street lighting system during the next year, with special emphasis on the residential sections are being made by the electric light committee, it is announced by Ald. W. H. Davies, chairman.

Purchase of 100 refractor-type street lighting units for installation in the residential areas was authorized by the committee and delivery is anticipated within six to eight weeks. The actual work of installation will start after the new year.

Because of the success of five units installed at the Ross Bay seaway, residents have requested eight more similar units along Dallas Road from Clover Point to St. Charles Street.

Experiments with light standards in the downtown area are continuing, Ald. Davies reported, and one experimental unit, using the present lamp standards with the new lighting unit has been installed at Yates and Douglas Streets by Cunningham's Drug Store. Other similar standards will be placed at the same corner.

The street lighting department has been authorized by the committee to proceed with the installation of new street lights in residential areas where needed as soon as the necessary materials and labor can be obtained.

At the present time, department officials report, the biggest hold-up is lack of copper wire. However, it is hoped that adequate supplies of the wire will be available by the end of the year.

Destruction of street lights this Hallowe'en was markedly less than in previous years, Ald. Davies reported, and considerably less than had been anticipated in view of the great increase in breakages during the past few weeks.

Uganda to Leave On Training Cruise

In answer to question in the House, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Peakes, M.P., was informed H.M.C.S. Uganda, now berthed here, will sail on a training cruise sometime before the end of the year, and her sister ship, H.M.C.S. Ontario, will reach Esquimalt shortly to dock for a refit.

It is believed a number of men now aboard the Uganda will go on the journey which will take the cruiser through the Panama Canal, and it is possible, Gen. Peakes learned, R.C.N.R. personnel will be able to sail on cruises planned for the Uganda.

Although war service men are now being demobilized and new men enlisted to build up the navy, there is still to be training of reserves aboard ship.

'Incendiary Blonde' At Capitol Monday

Evidently there was no cigarette shortage in the "era of wonderful nonsense" when Texas Guinan was queen of the night clubs. Texas, whose colorful career is being portrayed by Betty Hutton in "Incendiary Blonde," will be exciting and delighting audiences at the Capitol Theatre, starting Monday, is known to have taken only three puffs from a single cigarette. As a result, the cigarette bill during the filming of the picture, in which she is co-starred with Arturo de Cordova, was trebled.

Appearing with Betty Hutton and de Cordova in the technicolor hit are Charles Ruggles, Albert Dekker, Barry "Going My Way" Fitzgerald, Mary Phillips and other noteworthy performers. George Marshall directed the picture.

Meistersingers Will Resume Activities

At a reorganization meeting of the Meistersingers of Victoria, Samuel Sweetnam Jr. was elected president and Dudley Wickert was reappointed conductor. This group of young male singers enjoyed an enviable reputation before the war for their enterprisingly "different" programs. As two-thirds of the members, including the accompanist, Helen Ockenden, joined the armed forces early in the war, the choir was forced to suspend operations, but with the return of some of the men from the services it was decided to reorganize and hold a series of practices, commencing next Tuesday. There are several vacancies, and young men interested are requested to get in touch with the conductor.

Midnight Show

The society elite of the Navajo Indian Reservation in Arizona, New Mexico proved to more than 100 visitors from Hollywood that the dime-a-dance girls are pikers. The visitors were Universal's motion picture company, which spent four weeks in the Indian country to film the technicolor production, "Sudan," starring Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Turhan Bey, and coming Sunday midnight to the Rio Theatre.

The hostesses were scores of Navajo squaws, whose squaw dance is the favorite social feature of the tribe, and which undoubtedly was the great-grandmother of the dime-a-dance. The squaw dance was given in honor of the movie visitors upon the eve of their return to Hollywood.

While the tom-toms beat, the Indian girl shakes down the partner of her choice for his small change or bits of silver jewelry, to add to her dowry or spending money.

DOMINION THEATRE

For more than two centuries, with the exception of last year, there has always been a Lupino starring in a pantomime in England during the Christmas season.

That's why Ida Lupino, lovely star of Warner Bros. "Pillow to Post," currently at the Dominion Theatre, is so anxious to get back to London this fall, in order to continue this unbroken tradition of her family.

The Lupinos have been actors for some 300 years now. They originally started as circus clowns in Italy, with shows that traveled by wagon. They toured all over the continent, and finally landed in England, to settle and stay, a little over 200 years ago.

RIO THEATRE

Benson Fong, featured as the No. 3 son of Charlie Chan in Monogram's thriller, "The Shanghai Cobra," now showing at the Rio Theatre, got his name from two Swedish boys he grew up with in his home town of Sacramento, California.

Charlie and Ed Benson were such constant companions of the talented Chinese actor that their mother told him, "You are just like one of the family." That feeling stuck, and so did the name.

Six Years Away

Returning to Victoria for the first time since his departure for overseas, Maj. Rowland Horsey, D.S.O., of the 1st Division, will arrive home Monday with his wife and four-year-old son, Michael.

A veteran of the Mediterranean, Italian and German campaigns, Maj. Horsey has completed six years' active service, and is returning home for discharge.

In Vancouver he will be met Sunday by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Horsey, 1025 Joan Crescent.

Maj. Horsey arrived back in Canada on Sept. 29 aboard the Nieuw Amsterdam, and since that time has been spending his time with his wife visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Capt. K. F. Adams, R.C.N., and Mrs. Adams, in Halifax, and his wife's relatives in Halifax and Sackville, N.B.

Maj. Horsey won his decoration for meritorious action during the Italian campaign and received it from the King at a Buckingham Palace investiture.

'Song of Love' in 'Blossom Time'

Perhaps the best-loved piece in the operetta "Blossom Time," which comes to the Royal Victoria Friday and Saturday, Nov. 9 and 10, is the ever-popular "Song of Love," taken directly from one of the themes of the magnificent "Unfinished Symphony."

In the play it is sung by Schubert and Mitzi. During his brief lifetime Franz Schubert composed more than 600 songs alone, not to mention the masses, overtures, operas and other musical works which have become part of the world's favorite classical music. And it is from this fountain head of melody that "Blossom Time" draws the many exquisite songs that make its score one of the most inspiring ever heard on the light operatic stage.

ATLAS THEATRE

One of the finest attractions to come to the Atlas Theatre is Paramount's "Salty O'Rourke," an Alan Ladd screen sockeroo, which already has drawn high praise from high places in Hollywood. Alan co-stars with Gail Russell in the pounding story of a race track classic slated to raise audience blood pressure coming into the home stretch.

Ninth Victory Loan Passes Billion Dollar Mark As Week Ends

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 9th Victory Loan was past the billion-dollar mark today as Canadians in all walks of life continued to sign their name to victory in the three-week drive for a minimum of $1,500,000,000.

National War Finance Committee headquarters reported today that Friday's sales totaled $107,740,650 compared with $84,976,900 for the same day of the 8th loan drive last spring. This boosted the national total to $1,003,612,400 compared with $835,930,450 at the corresponding point six months ago.

Individual sales continued high, hitting a robust $64,692,500 Friday compared with $39,867,200 for the same day of the 8th loan. The remainder of Friday's total came from the big "special names" group of business firms and corporations.

The British Columbia-Yukon area picked up $7,823,550 in the general canvass Friday, and now stands at $64,413,350, or 81 per cent of quota. First civilian divisions over the top, coast and suburban both reached their quotas Friday. Five more units have passed the mark. The armed forces standing was Navy 326; Army 294; Air Force 208 per cent.

For the first time since the 9th Victory Loan campaign opened Oct. 22, Alberta leaped ahead of the 8th loan in dollar sales for the same period, with total sales of $31,432,950 as against $31,245,100 last time. This was exclusive of armed forces sales totaling $2,107,350. Alberta now has 65.7 per cent of its quota.

Back From Overseas

One of the first Chinese-Canadians to enlist in the Canadian Army from Victoria, Pte. William Lowe, 1170 Pembroke Street, has arrived home with a group of Canadian Army personnel who made the voyage from England on the ocean liner Queen Elizabeth.

Joining up together with his inseparable school chum, Pte. Harry Lim, Pte. Lowe went through the North African campaign with the Canadian Army and then was transferred to Italy.

"I'm certainly very glad to be home and see all my relatives and friends again," Pte. Lowe said, but expressed regret that his pal was unable to return to Canada at the same time as, until shortly before V-E Day, the two boys were fighting side by side in every battle.

Pte. Lowe was an executive member of the Victoria Chinese Youth Association before he enlisted and was also prominent in local sports circles. He was a member of the Victoria Chinese Students' basketball team and also starred in tennis.

After his discharge from the army, Pte. Lowe will help his father in his shoe repairing business on Government Street.
